FOREWORD

The object of the Maple Leaf Bazaar is two-fold: 1. To make the final payment on loan for the land of S. Barnabas Church and Rectory.

2. To start the building fund for the erection of a Church.

The history of S. Barnabas Mission is a tale of remarkable and unbroken progress from the time when the Mission was first erected in November of 1913, until the present day. The late Rev. Canon Hartley very generously bought and gave the land for the present site and the Rev. A. L. Burgett gave a generous donation towards the building. A building, 30 feet by 24 feet, was opened for the first service on November 27th, 1913. The opening service was conducted by the rector of S. John's, Moose Jaw, the Ven. Archdeacon F. Wells Johnson, assisted by the Rev. A. L. Burgett, General Missioner of the Diocese of Qu'Appelle, the Rev. A. B. Payne, rector of S. Michael's, Moose Jaw, and Rev. Justin Southam, Assistant Curate S. John's, Moose Jaw, and Mr. H. J. Gabb, Licensed Lay Reader.

Mr. H. J. Gabb voluntarily undertook the charge of the Mission under the direction of the rector of S. Johns. The Mission was named S. Barnabas after S. Barnabas Church, Ashby Road, Bristol, England. On May 4th, 1914, a parish meeting was held for the purpose of organizing officers and vestry to undertake the financing of the Mission apart from the mother church of S. Johns, Bishop Harding having given his permission for such a step. The rector then appointed Mr. E. Bartlam as his warden for one year and the meeting appointed Mr. J. Bristow as people's warden. At all subsequent meetings for the election of officers, Mr. J. Bristow has been unanimously elected.

The first vestry was composed of the following: Messrs. Robus, Neal, Moon and Whitehead, and the first business of the vestry was to consider the enlargement of the building, the building in use being too small to accommodate the children of the Sunday School. Plans were immediately drawn up for the enlarging of the building by a further 30 feet, making the building 60 feet by 24 feet.

On Sunday, September 20th, 1914, Bishop Harding, of Qu'Appelle, and Bishop Mills, of Ontario, together with Archdeacon Johnson, were present for the opening service of the enlargement.

In the years 1915 and 1916 the Mission did not make great strides in progress. No less than 60 of its members joined the colors. Ten paid the supreme sacrifice. The Lay Reader himself enlisted and left for overseas in 1916 and the Rev. J. Rees Jones was appointed Priest in charge of S. Barnabas, together with S. George's, in the west end of the city. The work of Mr. Jones was principally of consolidating, and he left Moose Jaw for the east in October before he had the opportunity of reaping the fruits of his labors.

In October, 1916, the Rev. Edgar H. Lee, the present incumbent, was appointed Assistant Curate of S. John's and in charge of S. Barnabas and S. George's under the direction of the rector of S. John's.

In 1917 the basement of the building was enlarged wholly by voluntary labor to give further accommodation. In July, 1918, the need of more room for the Sunday School was again apparent, and the vestry met this need by building an addition on the north side, 14 feet by 14 feet, to be used as a class room and vestry. The work of these improvements was again done by voluntary labor under the direction of Mr. G. B. Kimbell, one of the vestry men.

In 1918 the Bishop of the Diocese, Bishop Harding, gave his consent for the forming of S. Barnabas into a separate parish. On Sunday, December 22nd, 1918, there was a special service at S. Barnabas when Bishop Harding came and formally consented to the dividing of the parish from the mother parish of S. Johns. The Ven. Archdeacon Johnson formally requested permission for the division. Rev. Canon Davidson, rector of S. Paul's, Regina, assisted at the service. The Rev. Edgar H. Lee was then appointed the first incumbent, the Parish boundaries being defined as follows: On the west, Fourth Avenue N.E. On the south, River St. On the north and east to the City Limits.

It was a great venture of faith which was made when so small a parish considered it was capable of leaving the mother parish. No less a sum than $750.00 per annum had to be raised from collections in order to make expenses meet, but after the first eleven months, which have now expired, the small, struggling parish would unanimously state thankfulness that those responsible were courageous enough to undertake such a venture.

April 27th, 1919, was another red letter day in the history of the parish, when Bishop Harding for the first time administered the rite of confirmation in S. Barnabas, when 29 candidates (6 males and 23 femals) were presented.

It has often been said that the temperature of a parish may be guaged from the communicants. On the second Sunday in June 71 communicants were present at the 8.30 a.m. celebration.

Then the vestry were again asked to consider more accommodation and it was found quite impossible to enlarge the present building without spoiling the appearance of it; all the available land had been built upon. The future simply had to be thought of. A mission building is a splendid scheme for a start, but with the congregations and the roll of communicants constantly increasing, and the Sunday School growing larger, more land must be acquired. Suitable sites were then considered and eventually three 50 feet lots on the corner of Eighth Avenue and Hochelaga St. E. were secured. The Venerable Archdeacon Burgett kindly loaned the necessary money so that the lots were purchased for cash, and at the present time the whole loan has been repaid excepting the sum of $200.00, which it is hoped will be met and a substantial sum in hand towards the erection of a church as a result of the Maple Leaf Bazaar.

The growth of the Sunday School has been remarkable. During the past three years it has grown from 100 children and four teachers to the present day to 280 children and 20 teachers.

Another remarkable growth in this small, struggling parish is the growth in missionary giving. In the year 1916, with great difficulty, the sum of $100.00 was given, but it was pointed out then that no parish that was not missionary hearted could hope to grow and prosper. During the present year, when the parish has had to raise such an increased amount of expenses, no less a sum than $300.00 has already been given. Surely the fulfilment of our Blessed Lord's promise: "Give and it shall be given unto you."
